Any such relationship that might be perceived or represented as a conflict should be disclosed. Failure to disclose any such relationship or reveal personal relationships with Laramie County employees may be cause for contract termination.

Termination

The selection may be terminated (a) by either party at any time for failure of the other party to comply with the terms and conditions of the RFB or any subsequent agreement; (b) by either party, with thirty days' prior written notice to the other party; or (c) upon mutual written agreement by both parties.

Force Majeure

Neither the respondent nor LCSO shall be liable to perform under this RFB or subsequent agreement if such failure arises out of causes beyond control, and without the fault or the negligence of said party. Such causes may include, but are not restricted to, Act of God or the public enemy, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, freight embargoes and unusually severe weather. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

WHY AXON?

Axon's integrated Sky-Hero solution enhances deputy safety with throwable, GPS-independent robotics, delivering real-time intelligence in confined environments—empowering tactical teams to assess threats, reduce risk, and make faster, smarter decisions during high-risk indoor operations.

NEEDS

The Laramie County Sheriff's Office (LCSO) has clearly articulated a need for a Tactical Throwbot to support deputies in high-risk, confined, and unpredictable operational environments. Current limitations in situational awareness, particularly in GPS-denied and RF-complex interiors, present tangible risks to personnel safety and mission effectiveness. LCSO seeks a compact, throwable robotic platform that can navigate indoor debris, provide real-time audio-visual feedback, and operate reliably without dependence on external communications infrastructure such as Wi-Fi or GPS.

OUTCOMES

The ideal outcome for LCSO is the acquisition of a tactical robot that expands deputy capability during indoor operations. This includes:

- ▶ Enhanced operational awareness via real-time, secure video and audio feeds.
- ▶ The ability to deploy a device safely ahead of a team to assess threats without putting deputies at risk.
- ▶ Interoperability with tactical accessories that allow for active threat engagement (e.g., sound diversion, strobing lights).
- ▶ A platform that operates independently from networks vulnerable to disruption and interception.
- ▶ A rugged, proven, field-ready system with a low training threshold and high reliability under stress.

SOLUTION

To meet these needs and desired outcomes, we propose the Sky-Hero Sigyn Mkl Tactical sUGV, which includes the following key capabilities:

- ▶ Durable and Throwable: Lightweight (1150 g), palm-sized, and built to withstand drops from up to 6 meters, the Sigyn is optimized for rapid deployment into unknown or dangerous environments.
- ▶ Robust Mobility: The symmetrical, crash-proof chassis and oversized wheels enable the unit to traverse cluttered, confined interiors and urban terrain with minimal operator input.

- ▶ Secure Communications: Operates using encrypted AES-256 C2 and A/V transmission across 868/915 MHz and 5.8 GHz frequencies, without reliance on external Wi-Fi or GPS.
- ▶ High-Fidelity Awareness Tools: Dual EO cameras with day/night functionality, HD microphone, dimmable IR LEDs (front, rear, top), and 6-axis accelerometer and gyroscope ensure full environmental visibility.
- ▶ Modular Integration: Compatible with advanced tactical payloads, including:
 - Typhon Sound Diversionary Device (165+ dB)
 - High-output LED flashlight (10,000 lumens) with strobe, red/blue flashing lights, and green laser.
- ▶ Sustained Operation: Powered by dual removable 3000 mAh Li-Ion batteries for up to 120 minutes of drive time or 300 minutes in sentry mode.

EVIDENCE: WHY AXON AND SKY-HERO?

Sky-Hero has been an industry leader in the field of tactical robotics for over a decade, supplying elite military and law enforcement units across North America and Europe. The Sigyn Mk1 is part of a proven, fielded platform currently deployed by Tier 1 units and law enforcement tactical teams operating in the most demanding urban and indoor environments. Its success has been measured in real-world missions, and it continues to evolve through active field feedback and mission-driven upgrades.

Axon's commitment to LCSO includes:

- ▶ Delivery of a fully field-ready system tailored to law enforcement operations.
- ▶ Ongoing technical support and access to future system updates and payloads.
- ▶ A trusted, proven partner with international reach and local expertise.

The Sigyn Mk1 represents a best-in-class tactical throwbot solution that aligns with LCSO's operational needs, technological expectations, and mission objectives to protect life, improve safety, and maintain tactical superiority in high-threat situations.

Through this partnership, Axon has integrated Sky-Hero's industry-leading indoor UAV and UGV technologies—such as the Sigyn Mkl Tactical sUGV—into our broader mission to enhance deputy safety, improve situational awareness, and de-escalate high-risk incidents.

Sky-Hero's tactical robotics suite is actively utilized by over 500 law enforcement and military agencies worldwide. The proven performance of the Sky-Hero suite in GPS-denied, RF-challenged, and close-quarters indoor environments reinforces its value as a frontline tool for public safety.

Below, we present a list of representative deployments and comparable jobs that demonstrate our experience delivering and supporting complex tactical robotics and situational awareness platforms in law enforcement settings.

At the conclusion of this section, we have also included a snapshot of our financials, including our current Dun & Bradstreet rating, as required by the RFB, to further validate our organizational stability and capacity to deliver on long-term public safety contracts.

The company believes the verdict is not supported by the evidence and intends to file an appeal once judgment has been entered. Depending on the level of progress with the appeal, and any new information that might become known to the company, it expects the company will take an additional $1.6 million charge in the second quarter of 2014 as a result of this ruling.

WHITE PAPER

ENHANCING EOD OPERATIONS: LEVERAGING UNIFIED INDOOR TACTICAL ROBOTICS FOR SUPERIOR THREAT ASSESSMENT

At the core of every counter-terror operation or high-threat Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) task lies a comprehensive threat and risk assessment: a systematic process aimed at identifying known and anticipated hazards. It serves as the foundation for safe and effective operational planning and execution. In this challenging decision-making process of threat and risk assessment, the Sky-hero by Axon Recon Robotics System emerges as a valuable support tool for EOD experts.

REVOLUTIONIZING EOD OPERATIONS THROUGH ROBOTIC INTEGRATION

In an era defined by technological prowess, the integration of robotics into EOD operations stands out as a game-changer. Robotic advancements have unequivocally reshaped the landscape of this critical domain, designed not to replace but to augment the capabilities of human elements within EOD teams.

The dynamic synergy between EOD teams and cutting-edge robotics is instrumental in executing missions with precision and ensuring the safeguarding of human lives. When operated by skilled professionals, modern robots extend operational reach, enhance situational awareness and mitigate risks in high-stakes scenarios. From swift reconnaissance to seamless communication, robotics adeptly manage routine tasks and inject an element of efficient dynamism into EOD operations, creating room for human expertise on strategic decision-making and high-level analysis.

Considering the pervasive use of explosives by insurgents and criminals, which presents a continuously evolving operational challenge to global public safety and military personnel, robots play a pivotal role in elevating the effectiveness, safety and overall success of reconnaissance and securitization efforts undertaken by EOD teams.

ELEVATING EVALUATION OF POTENTIAL HAZARDS AND ASSOCIATED RISKS

Sky-Hero by Axon robotic solutions are instrumental in precise marking and identification of potential or confirmed threats, and offer EOD teams with critical situational awareness in high-risk scenarios.

Characterized by their compact and easily manageable design, Sky-Hero by Axon uncrewed ground vehicles (UGVs) and uncrewed aerial vehicles (UAVs) enable remote engagement with potential threats, thereby minimizing the direct exposure of EOD teams to hazardous situations.

USE CASES: SIGYN MKI GROUND ROBOT

The following use cases highlight some of the capabilities and associated benefits of the Sigyn MkL ground robot and other robotic vectors.

UNIDENTIFIED HAZARD : SECURING THE AREA

- 1 The ground robot deploys in under 30 seconds, operates through the GCS MkII and a self-generated secured network for comprehensive control beneath the vehicle. Featuring an impressively low height of 10cm/3.93in and 12cm/4.72in with a payload, the Sigyn navigates effortlessly in such confined space.
- 2 The robot moves swiftly at 1.7m/s/3.8mph, ensuring rapid progress. Equipped with a high-sensitivity wide-angle camera, it effectively detects potential hidden threats in the dark undercarriage. This capability can be enhanced by the Vertical Camera Payload, providing detailed insights of the vehicle's underside.

IDENTIFIED SUSPICION : CONCERNS IN SUBWAY STATION

- 1 The primary operator deploys the Sigyn, while the second operator deploys in less than 2min the Syncbox to gain a remote view on a large screen or a dedicated software interface for monitoring the audio-visual streams transmitted by the robot during the operation.
- 2 The robot progresses towards the investigation area, utilizing the rearward positioning of the Sigyn at the top of the escalator, leveraging the rear camera with a 4.5° downward orientation.
- 3 The initial observer spots a suspicious bag, leading the robot to descend the stairs. Its resilience and automatic damage uprighting ensure a seamless descent to the bottom, ensuring the continuity of the operation.
- 4 While advancing toward the detected target, the operator surveys the entire search area and uncovers a suspicious person lying in the shadows. A second Sigyn, equipped with an LED payload, is deployed to investigate this second potential threat detected in the darkness.

- 5 The robot equipped with the LED payload activates the Torch mode to obtain a clearer rendering of any potential human threat. If confirmed, the Strobe mode can be triggered to dazzle the individual.
- 6 Within the frequency-free zone established around the bag, the other Sigyn (control on high frequency 915MHz) continues its investigation of the bag in its immediate proximity, searching for compelling evidence that can be corroborated by the second operator.

LEVERAGING ADVANCED ROBOTIC CAPABILITIES FOR INCREASED AWARENESS AND SWIFT THREAT RESPONSES

FAST DEPLOYMENT

AXON | SKY-HERO robotic systems swiftly engage, demonstrating unparalleled responsiveness within seconds to address the exigencies of field investigations. This capability facilitates immediate and accurately qualified identification of confirmed hazardous zone limits and suspicious items. Operating at an average speed of 1.7 m/s, the Sigyn ground robot can efficiently traverse expansive investigation zones while maintaining proximity to items requiring analysis.

REMOTE ENGAGEMENT

Operated remotely within an average range of 150 to 250 meters, contingent on the surrounding structures, the ground robot emerges as the sole components directly exposed to potential threats. This configuration enhances the operator's overall safety during the evaluation phases. In the later stages of the operation, the pole camera, extendable up to 3 meters, strategically maintains a relative distance from potential dangers.

RELIABLE INFORMATION

Whether tasked with operational security, threat assessment, or analyzing a confirmed hazard, the Sigyn Mk1 sUGV facilitates close proximity to potential danger sources. Positioned at the forefront of operations, they relay crucial information through video and audio streams providing a consistent method for analyzing newly gathered information to establish the most effective processes and procedure, based on an objectified presumption: beam.

COMPACT SIZE

The compact dimensions of both sUGV and Tactical Camera, measuring approximately 20cm in length and width, and 10cm in height, offer distinct advantages in the operational context. Firstly, these reduced dimensions facilitate convenient transport, irrespective of the intricacy of the intervention environment. Secondly, they enable access to narrow and less readily reachable spaces, such as concealed caches, basement windows, and ventilation ducts designed to hide explosive charges.

AXON.COM/SKY-HERO

COMPREHENSIVE FIELD OF VIEW

Equipped with an expansive wide-angle camera, boasting a horizontal range of 150° and a vertical range of 120°, each tactical vector within the system provides an extensive panoramic view of the target and its immediate surroundings. This feature facilitates meticulous documentation of potential risks, offering EAO teams an unparalleled depth of situational awareness for enhanced decision-making during critical operations.

OPTIMAL TACTICAL CONTROL

Featuring a lightweight design, the GCS MkII tactical controller includes an intuitive interface, offering operators an unparalleled viewing experience across diverse lighting. Serving as the central command hub, the GCS MkII allows precise control over up to four deployed devices while capturing mission-critical intelligence. This controller operates on an 8-bit FPGA scrambling mechanism, further fortified with a resilient encryption algorithm (AES 256) to safeguard data.

OPTIMAL VISIBILITY IN THE DARK

Sky-Hero's robotic system incorporates a highly responsive camera complemented by dimmable and selectable infrared (IR) LEDs. This strategic combination ensures outstanding video clarity, effectively eliminating the common snowflake effect associated with NVGs lighting. Whether operating in broad daylight or complete darkness, this design guarantees optimal visibility, allowing for a clear and detailed view of the targeted element. Such heightened visual acuity not only facilitates in-depth analysis but also significantly enhances overall situational awareness for EOD teams.

MULTIPLE STREAMS BROADCASTING

The GCS controller stands as the primary device responsible for retrieving streams transmitted by Sky-Hero by Axon robots, but the streams can also be efficiently relayed to the Sky-Hero by Axon Tactical Watch screen. This is strategically worn on the wrist of a secondary operator involved in a mission. The Sky-Hero by Axon SyncBox serves as an intermediary, allowing streams to be transmitted through the DroneSense interface and reach Axon Respond. These two comprehensive drone management and collaboration platforms play a pivotal role in helping teams formulate action plans from a safe distance and respond swiftly to dynamic situations.

VERSATILITY IN DIVERSE ENVIRONMENTS

The Sky-Hero by Axon system integrates versatility as a fundamental aspect of its design, enabling devices to adapt seamlessly across diverse environments, day or night. The Sigyn Mkl is engineered to traverse various surface materials, such as sand, gravel, pebbles and grass. It can navigate down stairs and inclines and can be deployed by a manual throw. Complementing this, the Narfi Mkl enhances the system's versatility by allowing for secure attachment to any surface, helmet, or shield, as well as mounting on a pole. Together, these capabilities provide EOD teams with operational flexibility, enabling them to overcome a variety of challenges in complex environments effectively.

CAPABILITIES IMPROVEMENT

There are three specialized Sky-Hero by Axon payloads. The Loki Mkl sUAV, Sigyn Mkl sUGV and Narfi Mkl pole camera can be attached with a single click and are seamlessly controlled by the GCS Mkl controller. These payloads serve as valuable supplementary tools designed to address diverse circumstances in the field. The vertically oriented camera payload, set at a 45° angle, enhances environmental assessment with its 150° horizontal and 120° vertical field of view. The LED payload equips EOD teams with powerful illumination options for confined spaces, target designation and action specification using RGB LEDs.

EXTENDED SENTRY MODE DURATION

The robotic systems feature specialized batteries designed for extended operational durations, facilitating uninterrupted transmission of audio/video feeds to the remote control and auxiliary screens, including devices such as the Tactical Watch Screen or Axon Respond, for up to 300 minutes. This capability ensures sustained monitoring of threats.

WIDE SPECTRUM COVERAGE

The robotic systems showcase a broad range of interchangeable frequency bands essential for commanding and controlling operations, spanning from 868 MHz to 915 MHz, with an additional bandwidth of 5.8 GHz dedicated to audio and video functions. This design ensures the robots' resilience in environments where jamming systems are deployed by EOD teams. By configuring authorized frequencies within these jamming systems, a dedicated channel for robot command and control can be established, mitigating risks and allowing the robots to operate effectively within an anti-frequency bubble.

BOOSTING EOD TEAMS' RESPONSE CAPABILITIES

Sky-Hero by Axon robotics have been already been successfully deployed to enhance EOD operations in organizations such as the French Civil Security. Most recently, the French Civil Security deployed these robots to secure areas during the Tour de France and the 2023 World Rugby Cup. These instances serve as compelling evidence of the substantial impact small ground robots and pole cameras can have in critical situations.

SYNCBOX AND WRIST SCREEN

The Syncbox is a portable converter for the stream broadcasted by deployed robots, allowing the transformation of the initial analog signal into a digital format. This digital signal can be injected into any third-party devices with compatible software installed, preferably DroneSense, and ultimately AXON Respond.

Upon wrist installation, the tactical Wrist Screen allows simultaneous access to live-streamed A/V intel from up to 4 distinct devices, whether in motion or sentry mode. These real-time deliveries of A/V info significantly streamlines operations, heightens situational awareness, and enables quicker responses to operational risks and threat
