Tania Riedel, agent for Riedel Ventures, LLC, described their plans for the property.

Chairman Malm opened the hearing for PUBLIC COMMENT.

John Ysebeart and Jason Caughey, residents, and Justin Hesser, counsel for Kelly Zimmerman and Lisa Losee, expressed concerns about the liquor license. They cited: access, traffic, intoxicated people, offset from the property line, emergency services, need to go through the county planning process, building and fire codes, residential access only easement, well-being of the residents, and adverse effect on the neighborhood.

Riedel explained they have had talks with Planning. She said the liquor license is essential before going through the next steps. She noted the current easement to the property would not be used. There are plans for another access point from the north, and she is in talks with the BLM. She said the property is being restored, and they plan to have a shuttle service between the city of Cheyenne and the property.

Hearing no further PUBLIC COMMENT, Chairman Malm closed the hearing.

The board discussed approving the license with conditions or postponing the decision to the next meeting. County Attorney Mark Voss proposed postponing the hearing until the liquor division has reviewed the modified application and lease.
