Bryan Nicholas, Associate Planner, said this application has been submitted for the purpose to create five single-family residential lots by vacating and re-platting Tracts 3 & 4 of Grizzly Cliffs 1st Filing and using a portion of an adjacent un-platted property. Based on the evidence provided, staff recommends approval with the following condition: A note stating, "any further subdivision of the lands contained within this replat will be subject to a Subdivision Application pursuant to Wyoming Department of Environmental Equality (WYDEQ) Chapter 23 rules, requirements, and regulation," shall be shown on the plat prior to the public hearing before the Board. Chairman Holmes opened the hearing for PUBLIC COMMENT. Applicant Leon Grube said he wanted the name changed from Grizzly Cliffs to a German heritage name meaning Beautiful Valley View. Bryan Nichols, Planning, said staff does not support the name change. Brad Emmons, Planning, said filings of property can be tracked when they are all in the same parcel. Mr. Emmons pointed out land regulations state the continuation of the land should stay with the same name. The applicant disagreed and stated this was not a continuation, but was a new plat using the majority of the land. Mark Voss, County Attorney, stated that based on Title 34, modification or change of name requires vacation and consent of all property owners. He said vacating half of the subdivision would require the consent of all owners and notice of vacation or a hearing before the board on a petition of partial vacation. Mr. Grube said he thought the interpretation of rules was extreme, but he did not want to bother his neighbors. He thanked the board for their time. Hearing no further PUBLIC COMMENT, Chairman Holmes closed the hearing.
